Opportunity Background

Transaction Overview: Envirosoil is being offered for sale as a platform for consolidation in the Belgian environmental services market. The transaction is led by Vybros Capital Partners, who acquired the company via a leveraged buyout (LBO) in October 2024. The process is structured with an exclusive financial adviser and includes multiple stages, from expression of interest to final binding offers.

Company & Founding: Envirosoil was co-founded by Ingrid Cluyse and Eric Goudeseune, who remain actively involved in the business post-LBO. The company addresses environmental consultancy needs, including soil remediation and PFAS investigation, leveraging technical expertise and compliance with Belgian environmental regulations.

Business Model: Envirosoil operates a capital-light, cash-generative business model with project-based revenue streams. Its client base includes public bodies, industrial entities, and private clients, with diversified demand driven by mandatory compliance work. The company maintains pricing discipline on complex projects, achieving consistent margins.

Financial Profile: For FY2024, Envirosoil reported revenue of €10.4M, EBITDA of €1.9M (18.4% margin), and net income of €1.15M. The company operates without financial debt, reflecting its efficient working capital management and low capital expenditure requirements.

Deal Context & Ownership: The business is positioned for growth under PE ownership, with a buy-and-build strategy validated by the acquisition of A+E Consult in June 2025. The sale rationale includes further consolidation opportunities and leveraging operational synergies within the platform. The co-founders' retention mitigates key person dependency risks.

Investment Case

Intro thesis: This opportunity represents a platform acquisition in the fragmented Belgian environmental services market, with a buy-and-build strategy validated by the first add-on acquisition. The entry context is favorable due to structural demand drivers and the company's differentiated in-house capabilities, while the return logic rests on sector consolidation, operational efficiency, and margin protection.

The return profile is anchored in:

- Buy-and-build: The fragmented market offers significant opportunities for consolidation, as evidenced by the successful acquisition and integration of A+E Consult.

- Earnings growth: Organic revenue growth driven by regulatory expansion and pricing discipline on technically complex projects.
- Operational efficiency: Margin protection through in-house field capabilities, reducing reliance on subcontractors and ensuring cost control.
- Market expansion: Geographic growth potential in underserved regions such as Wallonia, leveraging existing accreditations and regulatory demand.

What must be true:

- Add-on acquisition pipeline must exist at favorable valuations in the fragmented Belgian market, with targets meeting licensing and operational criteria.
- Regulatory demand must continue to expand, ensuring a stable and growing revenue base.
- Operational integration of acquisitions must proceed smoothly, with systems consolidation and cultural alignment achieved.
- In-house field capacity must scale effectively to support organic and inorganic growth without bottlenecks.

Core underwriting: The investment hinges on the ability to execute the buy-and-build strategy in a fragmented market while maintaining operational efficiency and leveraging regulatory demand drivers. The case is compelling due to validated consolidation potential and structural demand, but integration risks and field capacity constraints represent areas of fragility. Overall, this appears to be a credible control PE opportunity for Vybros Capital Partners, provided the outlined conditions are met.

Risks and Merits

Key Risks

- Key person dependency on co-founders
- Regulatory changes impacting operational requirements
- Integration risks for acquired entities
- Client concentration in revenue sources
- Field capacity constraints limiting growth

Key Merits

- Zero financial debt across all periods, ensuring operational flexibility and reduced risk.
- Proven buy-and-build execution with first add-on acquisition successfully integrated.
- Mandatory regulatory demand creates a stable revenue floor immune to economic cycles.
- High EBITDA margins (18.4%) demonstrate pricing discipline and operational efficiency.
- Established platform with accreditations across all Belgian regions, enabling full-country coverage.

Conclusion

Recommendation & Next Steps

ENVIROSOIL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY	ACTION	COMMENTARY
Initial Recommendation	✓ Proceed	• Envirosoil demonstrates strong financial performance with consistent revenue and EBITDA growth, supported by regulatory-driven demand in Belgium's environmental services sector. • The opportunity aligns well with Vybros Capital Partners' mandate of acquiring and growing profitable SMEs in fragmented, resilient sectors, leveraging buy-and-build strategies. • Key risks include integration challenges and dependency on co-CEOs, but mitigants such as operational support and succession planning are in place.
